RE: Reductions in Force for Trust and Treaty Obligations to Indian Education

Dear Director Vought and Secretary McMahon,

On behalf of the undersigned organizations and the schools, educators, students, and Tribal Nations we represent, we write to express our grave concern regarding Reductions in Force (RIFs) at the Department of Education (ED). RIFs within ED will directly impact Tribal funding and programs, directly violating the Treaty and trust obligations to Tribal Nations. It is imperative that these RIFs be rescinded immediately.

To permanently lay off personnel necessary to carry out these obligations undermines the very framework through which the federal government fulfills its fiduciary responsibilities. We understand that as the shutdown continues, the belt on remaining funding will continue to tighten. Accordingly, Indian Country is not opposed to balancing the budget and reducing federal waste. However, these sacred obligations to Native education, prepaid with our lands and resources, should not be used as leverage in negotiations by either party. We, too, urge Congress to reopen the government as quickly as possible, but as Tribal Nations, we refuse to be used as instruments in any type of partisan politics.

Beginning Friday, October 10, 2025, the staff at the Office of Indian Education (OIE), staff at the Impact Aid office, and the administrators for Alaska Native Education and Native Hawaiian Education have received termination notices. These actions constitute a direct abrogation of the United States' trust and treaty obligations to Tribal Nations. While certain accounts may be discretionary, these obligations are not. They are solemn commitments rooted in treaties, statutes, and centuries of federal precedent. The United States' duty to provide for the education, health, and welfare of Native peoples was undertaken in exchange for vast Tribal lands and resources and remains a continuing legal and moral obligation of the federal government.

Therefore, the RIF notices to Tribal program employees must be rescinded immediately. Indian Country cannot wait for the government to reopen; we do not know how much longer this shutdown will last. The security of Tribal programs being forward funded or receiving advance appropriations is undermined without the employees who continue to disburse funds and provide technical assistance upon the passage of funding agreements. We urge OMB to direct the Department of Education to immediately suspend and rescind all RIF actions impacting Tribal serving programs.

Respectfully,
